

Instructions to Authors

1. The journal Chemija publishes original papers and review articles in the field of chemistry. Papers offered for publication should not have been published elsewhere. Papers should be submitted in English.

2. Articles should be headed by a concise but informative title. This should be followed by the names of authors and by the name and address of the institution where the work was carried out.

3. The main text of the paper will be divided into Introduction, Experimental, Results and Discussion, Conclusions. The paper should be provided with a list of References and Summary in Lithuanian (for Lithuanian authors). An Abstract (not exceeding 200 words) and 2–5 key words must be provided at the beginning of each article.

4. Symbols, formulae, equations, indices, similar letters should be set off clearly. Greek and Gothic letters should be underlined in red and named in the margin when first used. SI units should be used, chemical nomenclature should be based on the IUPAC lists.

5. Tables, numbered consecutively with Arabic numerals, must be typed on separate sheets and provided with headings that enable them to be comprehensible without reference to the text.

6. The size of figures should be suitable for direct reproduction. For charts, graphs and diagrams MS Word (.doc), MS Powerpoint (.ppt) or MS Excel (.xls) are suitable; photographs can be created using image-editing programs such as Adobe Photoshop (.tiff) or the open-source alternative GIMP. Lettering should be in 10 point Arial font. Colour figures are preferable (for the Internet version; colour prints should be agreed in advance). For graphs, axis labels should use SI units separated from quantities with a comma, but not in parentheses. Legends (captions) should be typed in sequence on a separate page or pages and should be understandable without reference to the text.

7. References (only Latin characters) in the text should be indicated by square brackets, for example, [14]. At the end of the paper the number of reference, initials and surnames of (in case there are more than six, indicate three and add et al.) authors should be followed by:

a) for articles in journals – the journal title (in italics) abbreviated as in Chemical Abstracts, volume, number (if any, in parentheses, bold type), first page, year of publication (in parentheses):

R. A. Vargas, A. Garcia, M. A. Vargas, Electrochim. Acta, 43, 1271 (1988).

B. Pranaitytė, A. Padarauskas, E. Naujalis, Chemija, 18(3), 16 (2007).

b) for collected articles – after “in”: editors (ed. in parentheses), title of work, volume, chapter, pages, publishing house, place of publication, year (in parentheses):

A. R. Hillmann, in: R. G. Linford (ed.), Electrochemical Science and Technology of Polymers, Vol. 1, Ch. 5, Elsevier, Amsterdam (1987).

c) for books – title, language in parentheses (if needed), edition number and volume (if any), page and/or chapter (if necessary), publishing house, place of publication, year (in parentheses):

J. Newman, Electrochemical Systems, 2nd edn., Prentice-Hall, Englewood Cliffs, NJ (1991).

H. W. Nurnberg (ed.), Pollutants and Their Ecotoxicological Significance, Wiley, Chichester (1985).

d) for proceedings – title of conference, place of publication, year (in parentheses):

H. C. Freeman, Proceedings of the 21st International Conference on Coordination Chemistry, Toulouse (1980).

e) for dissertation – place of publication, year (in parentheses):

A. D. Mount, Ph. D. Thesis, University of London (1977).

f) for internet links – title and internet address in square brackets:

BioGRID [<http://www.thebiogrid.org>].

d) for patents – originator, series designation which may include full date:

Philip Morris Inc., European patent application 0021165 A1, 1981.01.07.

e) for standards – standard symbol and number, title:

ISO/TR 9544: 1988, Information processing – Computer assisted publishing – Vocabulary.

The title, names, etc. written in Russian and other characters should be transcribed as in Chemical Abstracts.

8. Summary in Lithuanian must be typed on a separate sheet with the names of authors and the title.

9. Authors should submit the electronic version of their manuscripts (MS Word, Times New Roman 12-point) to: chemijavilnius@yahoo.com. The final version of a manuscript should be submitted both in electronic and paper forms (one copy). The hard copy should be submitted to: Dr. Aldona Jagminienė, Institute of Chemistry of Center for Physical Sciences and Technology, A. Goštauto 9, LT-01108 Vilnius, tel. (+370 5) 264 93 62.
