

Instructions to authors

Any employee of any Lithuanian higher school, research institute or industrial enterprise can send his or her article to "Geologija" collected papers, if the article deals with new scientific or serious production problems.

The articles in Lithuanian, English, Russian and other languages are accepted depending on the reader the article is devoted to. If the article is in English, two summaries should be presented: in Lithuanian and in Russian; if is in Lithuanian, summaries in English and Russian are desirable. The article presented as a rule should not exceed 0.5 printer's sheet (11 manuscript pages with figures), but exceptions are possible.

Structure of an article.

The title of the article should be given in capital letters, starting from the left margin. The author's first name and family name in small letters go after the title at the left margin. The right side of the sheet should contain the bibliography of the article in English, i. e. family name, initials, title of the article, place and year of publication, journal number (No.), pages (P.), ISSN, abstract, keywords, dates when the article was received and accepted, author's address. Double line spacing should be applied for the text. Subtitles are desirable.

References in the text should be put in parentheses, indicating the author's name and year of publication. The list of references should be made in alphabetical order. The titles of the references are given in the original language, starting with the Latin alphabet, then followed by Cyrillic, and vice versa, if the article is presented in Russian, e. g.:

Brett C. E., Boucot A. J. and Jones B. 1993. Absolute depths of Silurian benthic assemblages. Lethaia. 26 (1). 25–40.

Grigelis A. A. 1993. Geological time from the view-point of regional stratigraphy. Lietuvos aukštøjø mokyklø mokslo darbai. Geologija. 14. 6–17.

Holland CH. 1989. Principles of Silurian stratigraphical classification. History. Classification. In Holland C. H., Basset M. G. (eds.). Global Standard for the Silurian System. National Museum of Wales. Geological Ser. 9. 7–26.

Paðkevièius J. 1994. Baltijos respublikø geologija. Vilnius: Valstybinis leidybos centras. 447 p.

Мянниль Р. М. 1966. История развития Балтийского бассейна в ордовике. Таллин: Валгус. 224 с.

Illustrations include photographs and shaded pictures, which must be compact and fit for reproduction. Pictures must be distinct, made in Indian ink or printed out on a laser printer. Their format should not exceed A4 size; in case of reduction, the size of drawings should be 17 × 24 cm, 11 × 14 cm or even less, so that it fits in an 8 cm column. Linear scale should be applied for maps and sketches. Inscriptions in the drawings should be made in printing characters, inserted by means of computer. Legends of illustrations should be presented on a separate sheet. Tables are to be printed out on separate pages, numbered and assigned titles.

Two copies of the article should be presented. Manuscript is not returned to the author. Proofs for corrections are sent only once.

Members of the Editorial Board supervise the following branches of geological researches:

Prof. Dr. Hab. V. Baltrūnas – Quaternary geology, geoecology;

Prof. Dr. Kastytis Dundulis – engineering geology;

Prof. Dr. Hab. A. Grigelis – marine geology, stratigraphy;

Prof. Dr. Hab. V. Juodkazis – hydrogeology;

Prof. Dr. Hab. R. Mokrikas – hydrogeology;

Prof. Dr. Hab. A. Jurgaitis – sedimentology, raw mineral materials, economic geology;

Doc. Dr. V. Kadūnas – mineralogy, geochemistry; Doc. Dr. G. Motuza – petrology, Precambrian geology;

Prof. Dr. Hab. J. Paðkevièius – stratigraphy, paleontology, regional geology;

Prof. Dr. Hab. P. Suveizdis – tectonics, geophysics;

Dr. Hab. S. Ðliaupa – tectonics, sedimentology.

The articles prepared are presented to the member of the Editorial Board who supervises the branch under consideration. Further, the article is sent to an expert for a critical review. Afterwards the board member decides whether the paper is fit for publication.

Subscription orders should be sent (by foreign customers) to:

Publishing House of the Lithuanian Academy of Sciences,

Gedimino pr. 3, LT-01103 Vilnius, Lithuania.

Fax: +370-5 212 6351.

Annual subscription price (4 issues, postage included): EUR 92,-